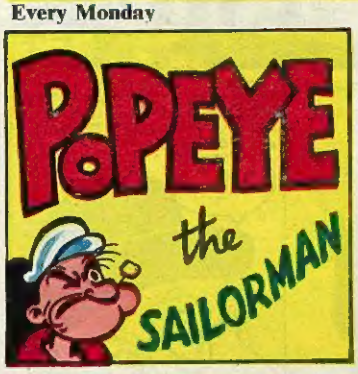
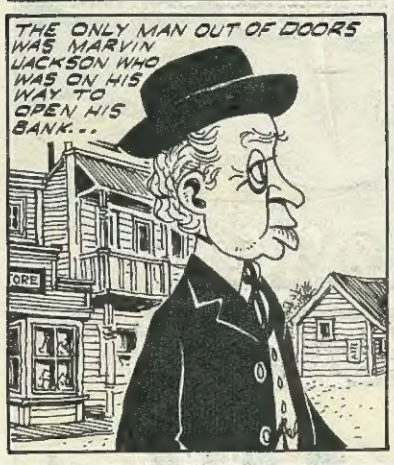
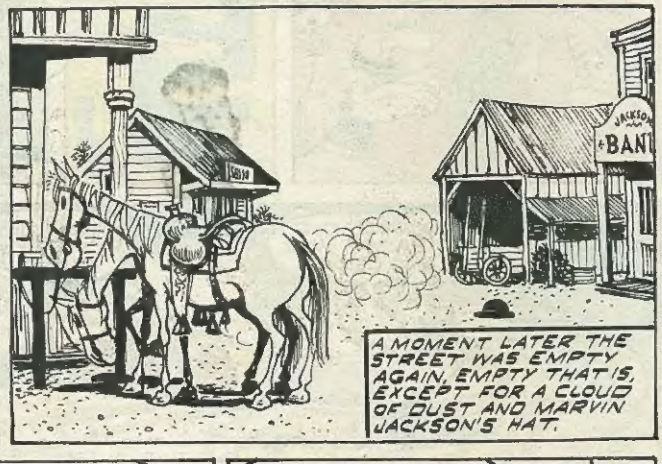
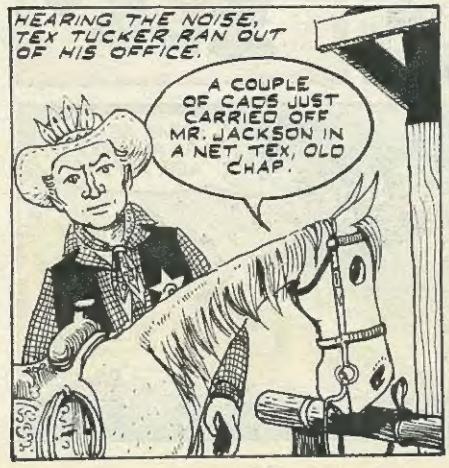
POPEYE the SAILORMAN









Adapted from Granada's Television series "Four Feather Falls."

THAT MEANS THEY WILL BE BACK TONIGHT TO OPEN THE SAFE, BUT I'LL BE THERE WAITING FOR THEM.
BUT FIRST I MUST TRY TO FIND MARVIN JACKSON.
TEX RODE OFF ALONG THE TRAIL INTO THE DESERT AFTER THE BANDITS.
SUDDENLY HE SAW A MAN AHEAD. HE WAS SCRATCHING IN THE DUST WITH A STICK. TEX TUCKER'S SUSPICIONS WERE AROUSED AT ONCE.
LOST SOMETHING!
YEA! I LOST A KEY!
TEX THOUGHT QUICKLY.
A KEY TO A SAFE, LIKE THIS FOR INSTANCE!
SO YOU FOUND IT, EH! HAND IT OVER!
TEX WAS CAUGHT IN THE ROPE NET LIKE A FLY IN A SPIDER'S WEB BUT HIS MAGIC GUNS SWUNG UPWARDS AND FIRED AT THE BANDITS.
THE BANDITS WERE SOON DISARMED AND TEX TUCKER TIED THEM UP WHILE ROCKY WENT OFF IN SEARCH OF MARVIN JACKSON.
FUNNY THING IS, I ONLY GUESSED YOU WERE LOOKING FOR THE KEY, THIS ONE IS THE KEY TO MY JAIL HOUSE.
ROCKY FOUND MARVIN GAGGED AND BOUND BEHIND SOME BOULDERS. HE BIT THROUGH THE ROPES, THEN THEY ALL WENT BACK TO FOUR FEATHER FALLS ~ THE BANDITS INTO THE JAIL AND MARVIN INTO TEX'S OFFICE.
THEY THOUGHT I'D THROWN THE SAFE KEY ONTO THE TRAIL BUT IT'S IN THE LINING OF MY HAT IF YOU'LL KINDLY RETURN IT TO ME, TEX.

ANIMAL CARE

Grahame Dangerfield tells you how to look after your pets.

THIS WEEK: SLOW WORMS

About Your Pet

I EXPECT most children think that Slow Worms are snakes. But they are neither worms nor snakes! The Slow Worm is in fact a legless lizard. It is a shy creature, asking nothing more than to be left alone while it hunts and eats harmful garden creatures like small slugs.

In spite of this, a great many find their way into the pockets of small boys, and are taken home as pets. In many cases they spend the next month or so gradually starving to death. This is a great pity, as they are not too hard to keep.

Some pet shops even sell Slow Worms as pets, but they are more often to be found in the country. If you do buy one from a pet shop, make sure that it has good clear and bright eyes, and that it looks fairly fat.

Housing

LIKE all creatures, the Slow Worm will appreciate a big place in which to live. If you want to see your pet, then an aquarium is quite a good home, although you may find that it is shy and prefers to remain hidden most of the time.

Slow Worms like a fairly dry place to live, but not too dry. Dry sand is no good for one thing. Leaf mould in which your pet can burrow is probably best, and this should be very, very slightly dampened. One or two large flat stones are a good idea for your pet to hide under, and do not forget this particular attention all the time to the moisture, and never forget they suffer if too dry and can die if too wet.

In the summer you can keep the aquarium in a living room, but when winter comes it is better to let your pet hibernate properly. Once a Slow Worm does start to hibernate, then leave it alone until the spring. If you keep waking it up it will very likely die.

Feeding

SLOW WORMS only need a diet of earthworms and small white slugs that you can find in the garden. Be careful to see that none of these slugs have come into contact with any of the commercial slug killing products on the market today, as I have no doubt that any Slow Worm eating a contaminated slug would be killed.

A small pot of water should be placed in the Slow Worm aquarium always, and kept clean all the time.

Handling

PERHAPS the Slow worm is one of the more unfortunate creatures kept as a pet because it is so easy to carry around in the pocket and produce in the school class to frighten other children.

This sort of thing may be a lot of fun, but always think of the animal. It is bad to behave like this with a living creature, so treat your Slow Worm carefully and properly.

In its wild state the Slow Worm can break off its own tail to escape from an enemy should it be caught by the tail. If you catch a wild Slow Worm, never grab it by the tail, and even when it is tame, mind the tail all the time as it may break off. Should this happen, the tail will in fact grow again, but never so nicely.

This little girl is not too happy with her brother's pet. Younger children may be frightened of Slow Worms, so let them get to know the creatures gradually.

A Special Request

IN recent years a lot of interest has been taken in the Blue Spotted Slow Worm. I shall be very interested indeed to hear from anyone who may have found one of these Blue Spotted Slow Worms anywhere at any time. You can contact me by writing to the TV COMIC. Records of this colour variant of the Slow Worm from the northern parts of the country will be particularly valuable.
